

Community called to “Dare to Dream” Noosa Junction

Noosa Junction Master Plan Community Consultation Event.

When: Saturday March 13 from 10 am – 1 pm.

Where: Arcadia St, Noosa Junction

Consultation is underway for input into the Noosa Junction Placemaking Master Plan to rejuvenate the Junction, making it an easier and more attractive place to visit and do business. The Master Plan will focus on town planning, urban design, traffic and landscaping - building on previous economic strategy work for Noosa Junction.

And now it is time for the community to have a say in shaping the future Noosa Junction. Council is inviting the community to “Dare to Dream the Junction” at a fun and creative consultation event on Saturday March 13 from 10 am – 1 pm, along Arcadia St, Noosa Junction.

Council officer, Jamie Franklin, said place making is about capturing the uniqueness of an area – the things that make it so special - and then bringing these elements into the outcomes for the Noosa Junction.

“The Junction will be the place to be on Saturday 13 March for the community to have input into the Master Plan,” Mr Franklin said. “With the help of Noosa Junction Business Association, Noosa Heads Loins Club, and art students from Sunshine Coast TAFE, people will be encouraged to put down their visions for the Junction by drawing pictures, posting ideas, making a wish list, starring in the roving video, or even writing a poem.

Community members who can’t make the March 13 event can also have their say online by going to Council’s website. The Draft Master Plan will then be on display for feedback in late April – another chance for all to have input – before going to Council for adoption in June. For Place Making Master Plan announcements and up-dates visit Council’s website or contact Jamie Franklin via Council’s call centre 5475 8501.
